FRATERNITY assuring the dignity of the individual and the unity and integrity of the Nation;

IN OUR CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY this twenty-sixth day of November, 1949, do HEREBY ADOPT, ENACT AND GIVE TO OURSELVES THIS CONSTITUTION."

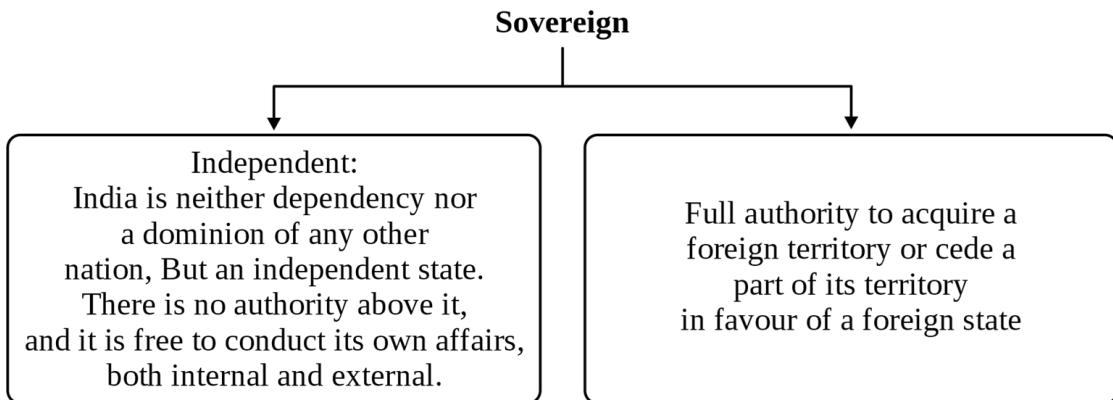

Key Components of the Preamble

1. "We, the People of India"

- ✓ Reflects the idea of popular sovereignty — the Constitution derives its authority from the people, not from any external source or monarch.
- ✓ Indicates that ultimate power lies with the citizens of India.

2. “Sovereign”

- ✓ India is independent and not subject to control by any external power.
- ✓ It can freely formulate its internal and external policies.

3. “Socialist” (Added by 42nd Amendment, 1976)

- ✓ Reflects economic justice and reduction of inequality.
- ✓ It does not imply communism but the mixed economy model where both public and private sectors co-exist.
- ✓ The state strives for equal distribution of wealth and welfare of all.

4. “Secular” (Added by 42nd Amendment, 1976)

- ✓ India has no official religion.
- ✓ The state treats all religions equally and maintains a principled distance from religious affairs.
- ✓ Citizens have the freedom of religion under Article 25 to 28.

5. “Democratic”

- ✓ Refers to a system of government by the people, through their elected representatives.
- ✓ Emphasizes universal adult suffrage, periodic elections, rule of law, accountability, and civil liberties.

6. “Republic”

- ✓ The head of the State (President) is elected, not hereditary.
- ✓ Ensures that public offices are open to all citizens, not restricted by birth.

Objectives of the Constitution

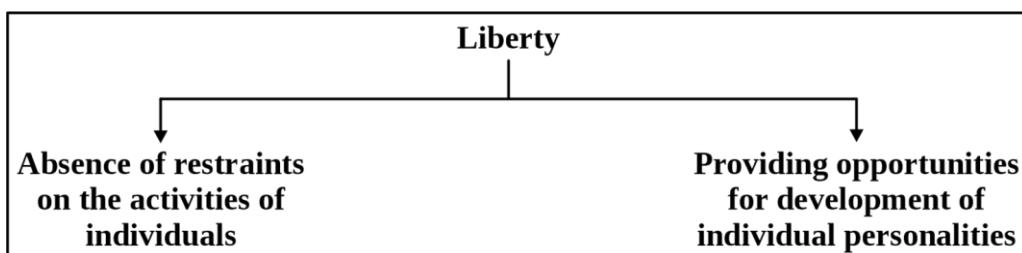

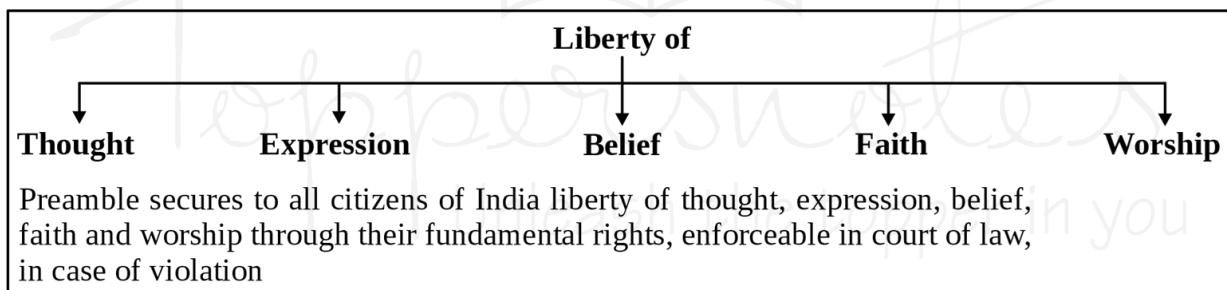

a) Justice – Social, Economic, and Political

- ✓ Social Justice: Removes social inequalities, prohibits discrimination (Article 15), and promotes welfare (Directive Principles).
- ✓ Economic Justice: Fair distribution of wealth, opportunity, and resources.
- ✓ Political Justice: Equal rights to participate in the political process (universal franchise, right to contest).

b) Liberty – of Thought, Expression, Belief, Faith, and Worship

- ✓ Protected under Articles 19 and 25-28.
- ✓ Citizens are free to think, express, and follow any religion or belief without fear.

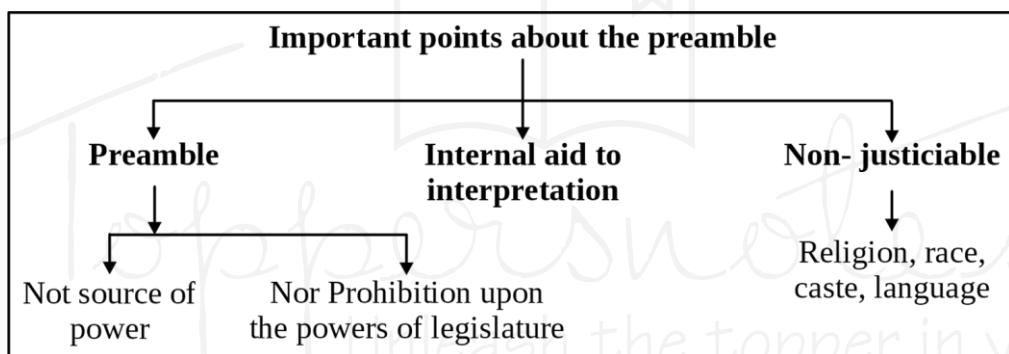

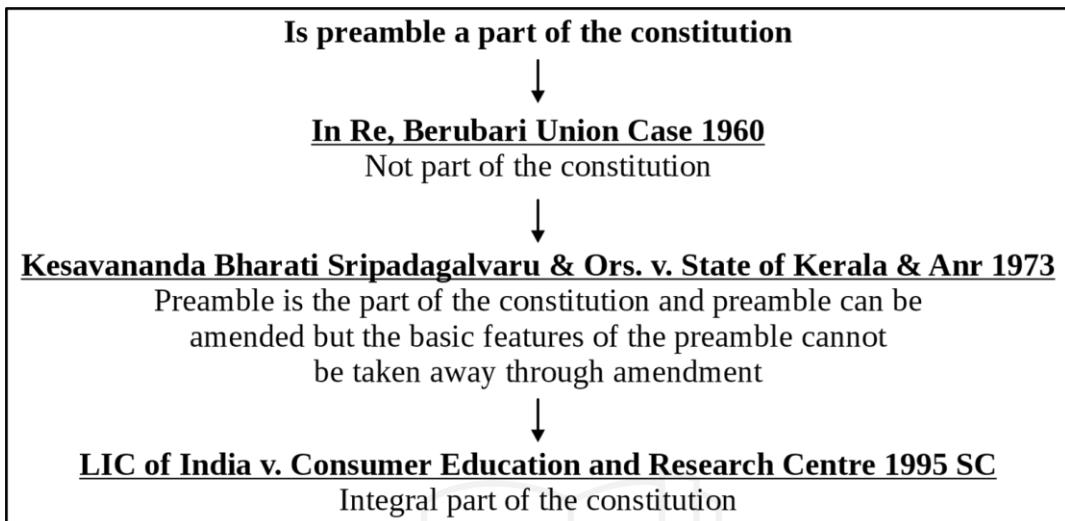

The ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity in our preamble have been taken from French revolution (1789-1799)

c) Equality – of Status and Opportunity

- ✓ Ensures equal treatment before law (Article 14), prohibits discrimination (Article 15), and guarantees equal opportunity (Article 16).

d) Fraternity – Assuring Dignity of the Individual and Unity and Integrity of the Nation

- ✓ Upholds the dignity of each person.
- ✓ Aims to maintain national integration in a diverse country.

The Union and its Territory

Article 1 – Name and Territory of the Union

1. India = Bharat: The country shall be called India, that is Bharat.
2. Union of States: India is a Union of States, not a federation formed by agreement, and States have no right to secede.
3. Territory of India includes:
 - (a) Territories of the States.
 - (b) Union Territories as specified in the First Schedule.
 - (c) Any other territories that may be acquired by India in the future.

Two things are clear from this Article-

- First, the name of the country i.e Bharat and India.
- Secondly, the nature of India, it means India will be a ‘union of states’.

There was no unanimity in the Constituent Assembly with regard to the name of the country. Some members suggested the traditional name (Bharat), while other advocated the modern name (India). Hence, the Constituent Assembly had to adopt a mix of both (India, that is Bharat) The country is described as ‘Union’ although its constitution is federal in structure.

According to the B.R. Ambedkar, the phrase ‘Union of states’ has been preferred to ‘Federation of state’ for two reasons:

One, the Indian Federation is not the result of an agreement among the states like the American Federation;

Second, the states have no right to secede (to decide not to continue to be part) from the federation.

Article 2 – Admission or Establishment of New States

Parliament's Power:

Parliament can

- admit new states into the Union
- establish new states with any terms and conditions it deems fit.

Article 2 relates to the admission or establishment of new states that are not part of the union of India.

Article 3 – Formation or Alteration of States

Parliament may make laws to:

- (a) Form a new state.
- (b) Increase the area of any state.
- (c) Decrease the area of any state.
- (d) Alter boundaries of any state.
- (e) Change the name of any state.

In other words, it deals with internal re-adjustment of the territories of the states

[Article 4]

Article 3 lays down the two conditions in this regard

- Firstly, bill can be introduced in the Parliament only with the prior recommendation of the president
- Secondly, before recommending the bill, the President has to refer the bill to the state legislature concerned for expressing its views within a specified period.
- Parliament or President is not bound by the views of the state legislature.

It is thus, clear that the constitution authorises the Parliament through Article 3 to form a new state or alter the area, boundaries or names without their consent.

Hence, the territorial integrity or continued existence of any state is not guaranteed by the constitution.

It means the parliament can redraw the political map of India according to its will.

Therefore, India is rightly described as 'an indestructible union of destructible states' where the Union Government can destroy the states whereas the state government cannot destroy the Union.

Explanation I:

- For clauses (a) to (e), the word 'State' includes Union Territories.
- But in the Proviso, 'State' does not include Union Territories.

Explanation II:

- The power under clause (a) includes making a new State or Union Territory by merging parts of existing States or UTs.

Article 4 – Laws under Articles 2 & 3

1. Any law made under Article 2 or Article 3 must:
 - ✓ Include amendments to the First Schedule (which lists states and union territories).
 - ✓ Include amendments to the Fourth Schedule (which deals with Rajya Sabha seat allocation).
 - ✓ May also include supplemental, incidental, and consequential provisions, such as:
 - Representation in Parliament or State Legislature(s) of affected states.
2. Such laws are not considered constitutional amendments under Article 368, meaning they do not require a special majority.
